"Martha can you let go of my hand now, please??" Netflix has unveiled an official trailer for a dark comedy series titled Baby Reindeer, arriving for streaming on Netflix starting in early April. The series is created and written by the Scottish comedian & actor Richard Gadd, telling his own story once again. This story about his stalker and his relationship with her was already turned into a play that he debuted at Edinburgh Fringe a few years ago. Now it's being turned into a Netflix series, expanded into eight 30-minute episodes. In Baby Reindeer, when a struggling comedian shows an act of kindness to a vulnerable woman stalking him, it sparks a suffocating obsession which threatens to wreck both their lives. Starring Richard Gadd as Donny Dunn, along with Jessica Gunning as Martha, Danny Kirrane as Gino, Nava Mau as Teri, plus Hugh Coles, Tom Goodman-Hill, Jamie Michie, and Chloe Driver. Well, well, this looks damn good! An impressive dark comedy twist on a very uncomfortable, unsettling real life situation. This is worth a look.

Baby Reindeer follows struggling comedian Donny Dunn's (starring Richard Gadd) warped relationship with his female stalker Martha (Jessica Gunning) and the impact it has on him as he is ultimately forced to face a deeply buried trauma. Baby Reindeer is a series created and written by the Scottish comedian / actor / writer Richard Gadd, who has also written for "Jon Richardson: Ultimate Worrier" & "Sex Education" series previously. It's based on Gadd's own play of the same name, which first premiered at the Edinburgh Festival Fringe 2019 where it won two awards. Featuring episodes directed by Weronika Tofilska, Josephine Bornebusch, and Jon Brittain. Produced by Matthew Mulot and Francesca Moody for Clerkenwell Films.

Executive produced by Richard Gadd, Petra Fried, Ed Macdonald, and Matt Jarvis. Netflix will debut Gadd's Baby Reindeer streaming on Netflix worldwide starting on April 11th, 2024 this spring. Who's interested?
